

Getting Started

Only you can choose the best path for you and your child. By considering adoption, you can choose to give your child the long-term gift of a stable home and promising future with a loving family. We understand the range of emotions and many decisions you now face; choosing adoption is a radically compassionate choice and requires a deep love for your child and respect for yourself.

As the birthparent, you make the earliest decisions about your child's future:

- Choose what type of family will raise your child.
- Choose what kind of environment and values he/she will be raised with
- Design your own hospital and delivery plan
- Create a plan for future contacts with your child and the adoptive family, if you choose

Adoption Choice, Inc. Will Provide You With:

- Information you'll need to make a decision about your pregnancy, your baby and your adoption
- Profiles of families who have been screened and prepared for adoptive parenthood
- Information about your legal rights and an attorney to explain the unknown
- A personal relationship with an adoption counselor who cares about you and your needs, who will listen to your feelings and help you through your decision making including the adoption itself

Create Your Own Adoption Plan:

- Choose the adoptive family from our parent profile books
 - Meet and get to know the adoptive family you choose
 - Design your own hospital and delivery plan
 - Arrange for your baby to go home with the adoptive family directly from the hospital
 - Create a plan for future contacts with your child and the adoptive family

Services For Birth Parents

Right away, we will designate a counselor who will get to know you. We will work to understand your unique situation, and help you explore all possible options. Additionally:

- We will assist you with your living expenses including rent, utilities, food and clothing as allowed by Wisconsin law
- We can provide you with transportation to and from doctor's appointments. We will assist you with medical expenses including prenatal care, hospital and delivery charges
- We will handle all legal and adoption procedures at no cost to you
- We can contact or assist with informing the birth father and other family members of your decision and help them understand the adoption process.
- We conduct a detailed screening process for prospective adoptive parents to ensure that you have the best families from which to choose.
- We can assist you in determining the level of openness you wish to have with your chosen adoptive family.
- We will be there for you throughout your pregnancy and the placement of your child. Following placement, birth parent counseling will continue to be offered or a referral to another counseling agency will be provided if you prefer

First Your Baby's Future... Now Yours.
